How to set up a season in the admin panel — tournament, franchises, player pool — and then run the live player auction from the console. Every screen below is a real screenshot from the app.

MONEY UNITS

Everything is entered in lakhs

100 L = 1 Cr. Season 4 franchises ran on a 200 L (2 Cr) purse.

The flow at a glance

Do the setup in this order. Teams and the auction both hang off a tournament, so the tournament must exist first.

One rule that trips people up: the console only shows teams that belong to the same tournament as the auction. If the Teams panel is empty during a live auction, the teams were attached to a different tournament.

Sign in

Page: `/login`

- 1 Open the admin URL. You land on the sign-in screen.
- 2 Enter your `Email` and `Password`.
- 3 Click `Sign in`. You are taken to the Dashboard.

2

Create the tournament

A tournament is one season. Teams and the auction are both attached to it, so create it first.

- 1 Click Tournaments in the left nav.
- 2 Click + New tournament (top right).
- 3 Fill in the form — only the name is required, but series and season details help group seasons across years.
- 4 Click Create tournament. The new season appears as a card in the list.

Register players

Players are a shared pool — they are not tied to a tournament. A player only needs to be registered once, then can be entered into any auction.

- 1 Click Players in the left nav.
- 2 Click + Add player.
- 3 Enter the player's details. Role and base price are what matter in the auction.
- 4 Leave Active — available to be entered into auctions ticked.
- 5 Click Add player. Repeat for every registered player.

Create the auction

The auction holds the bidding rules. Increments and squad limits are enforced by the server — the console never trusts the browser with the arithmetic.

- 1 Click Auctions in the left nav.
- 2 Click + New auction.
- 3 Name it and choose the Tournament from step 2 — the same one the teams are attached to.
- 4 Set the squad sizes, timer and bid increments (table below).
- 5 Click Create auction. It appears as a Draft card.

FIELD	WHAT TO ENTER
Auction name *	e.g. MPL Season 5 Auction
Tournament *	The season being auctioned — decides which teams can bid
Maximum squad size	A team cannot buy beyond this — default 11
Minimum squad size	Squad floor for the season — default 0
Bid timer (seconds)	Countdown per player. 0 = no countdown — default 30
Bid increments: Increment	How much each bid rises by at first — default 1 L
Bid increments: Above	Threshold where the bigger step kicks in — default 40 L
Bid increments: Rises by	Step size above the threshold — default 2 L

With the defaults, bidding on a 10 L player goes 10 → 11 → 12 ... → 40, then 42 → 44 → 46 and so on.

6.1 Empty pool. The four counters track In the pool / Still to come / Sold / Unsold.

7

Run the auction live

Page: an auction card → Console

The console has three columns: the player under the hammer (left), the bid figure with Sell / Unsold (centre), and the teams that can bid (right). Every action is a single click.

- 1 Click Start auction (top right). The badge turns Live.
- 2 Click Next player. The first player in the order comes up with their Opening bid = base price.
- 3 To record a bid, tap the team's card in the Teams panel. Its purse and the current bid update; the team is marked Leading.
- 4 Keep tapping teams as they outbid each other. The Next bid figure shows what the next tap will cost.
- 5 When bidding stops, click Sell — the player goes to the leading team at the current bid, and the team's purse and squad count update.
- 6 If nobody bids, click Unsold.
- 7 Click Bring up next player (or Skip to next player) to continue. Use Queue to pick a specific player out of order.
- 8 Use Pause / Resume for breaks — bids are blocked while paused.
- 9 When done, click End and confirm. Players still in the queue stay unsold.

8.1 Results: players sold, total spend, highest and lowest buys, and the sold list with base and sold prices.

Bidding rules the server enforces

You cannot break these from the console — the button simply greys out and shows why.

Opening bid = base price

The first tap on a team records the player's base price. Every later tap adds the increment for the current level.

Tiered increments

Bids rise by the first increment until they pass the threshold, then by the larger step.

Not enough purse

A team whose remaining purse is below the next bid is greyed out.

Squad full

A team that has reached its max players (or the auction's squad cap, whichever is lower) cannot bid.

Leading

The team already holding the high bid cannot bid against itself.

Sell needs a bid

Sell stays disabled until at least one bid is on the player. Use Unsold otherwise.

Paused = no bids

While paused, team cards are disabled. Resume to continue.

Ending is final

Once ended, no further bids. Anyone still in the queue is left unsold.

If something looks wrong

Teams panel is empty in the console

The teams are attached to a different tournament than the auction. Open each team → Edit → set the Tournament to match the auction's.

A team card is greyed out

Read the small label on the card: Not active, Squad full, Not enough purse or Leading.

Sell is disabled

No bid has been placed yet. Tap a team first, or mark the player Unsold.

A player is missing from "Add players"

Either the player is not Active (Players → Edit → tick Active) or they are already in this auction's pool.

"Reconnecting" next to the auction name

The live update connection dropped. The console keeps polling every 5 seconds, so it still works — it just refreshes a little slower until it reconnects.

Wrong player came up

Click Queue and pick the right one, or Skip to next player. A skipped player with no bids is left pending, not unsold.

Screenshots were taken on the local development build (in-memory database, seeded with the Season 4 data) while creating a demo Season 5, Sample Strikers, and one registered player. Names in the screenshots are illustrative; the flow is identical in production.
